Welcome Back!

In case you haven't noticed or were wondering, we are back to being open to the public during regular open hours! In order to keep our community healthy, we are asking folks to visit the library one family or "home group" at a time. The door is now unlocked, and you may just walk in. Please wear a mask, per Oregon requirements. If there is already a group in the library, you might be asked to hang around outside for a minute. Waiting your turn may sound a bit awkward, but so far it's working out well.

For now we are not allowing computer use. This is due to the way our library is configured and the location of our public computer. However, you are welcome to bring your own device and use the wifi, either in the building or outside in the library yard.

Folks have been able to access library materials during the long pandemic closure with curbside and front door pickup, and this is still an option if you prefer. Welcome back...you've been missed!

Children's Book Week

Children's Book Week, established in 1919, is not only a celebration of books, but of connection. It is a way to unite kids and adults with books and authors in order to foster a love of reading. Bring your kids to the library during Children's Book Week,

May 3-9 to receive a free book. It's a good time to sign them up for library cards!
